THE WEEKLY BULLETIN

SATURDAY, AUGUST 11, 1855.

We have already mentioned the fact of an inoffensive Irishman being brutally assaulted at the court-house on Monday, and that some ruf-fian run a pitch-fork into his body. After marching about for some time, the blood of the poor victim all the while dripping from the prongs of the fork, the ruffian, who by the prongs or the fork, the ruthan, who by the way, it is said, was from New Albany, stuck a loaf of bread on the fork and shouldering it, continued his march through the streets. No fort whatever was made to arrest him.

We are authorized by a distinguished gentleman of unimpeached and unimpeachable veracity to state that he was present and witnessed the whole transaction referred to in the paragraph quoted above, and that the statement therein made is altogether untrue in the most material particulars. He says that there was in the crowd a half-witted looking individual with a pitchfork, upon the tines of which was stuck a loaf of bread, but he assures us that there was no blood upon the prongs of the fork, and that it was not run into the body of the Irishman who was engaged in a fight at the court-house.

Dr. White, the coroner, informs us that he held an inquest yesterday evening at the hospital on the body of William Mouldry, an Irishman about thirty years of age. He was taken from the vicinity of Main and Chapel streets late Monday night and placed in the hospital where he died from the effects of fracture of the skull. As in most other cases no clue could be had to the person who committed the deed.

We learn from the coroner that the remains of one body were taken yesterday from the cellar of the corner building in Quinn's row. The inquest mentioned above is the fifteenth this

And I've quickly snotched my pencil for the first time to recall To the twain the winter's eve I saw the shadows on the

POSTMASTER KENDALL .- A friend of Mr. Kendall, the late postmaster at New Orleans, has sent us an article from the New York Journal of Commerce, written in vindication of him against the charges for which he was removed. We regret that the last paragraphs of the article are torn from the slip sent to us:

We cannot be accused of a disposition to treat the Administration otherwise than fairly and occupying this friendly attitude, we address the President in behalf of Mr. Kendall, who has been removed from the post-office at New Orleaus, and who has been proceeded against by officers of the Government, on a charge of embezzlement, in a spirit so improper, outrage-ous, and malignant, as to call for the severest censure against all, whether in the Cabinet or below it, who, in it, have any share. The charge against Mr. Kendall-who occupies a charge against Mr. Kendall—who occupies a high social position in New Orleans—is utterly idle upon its face. We have waded through the whole testimony, read the statements and evidence of prosecutors, the speech of Mr. Morse, the Attorney General, and carefully weighed every point in the accusation, to see if there was the least matter to justify these abominable proceedings, but we have found none; and we are sure that every honorable man who examines the case will see in it more the spirit examines the case will see in it more the spirit of a Jeffreys and a Finch-the Judge and Solicitor who tried Sidney—who was convicted by these vile instruments of the crown on a comparison of handwritings—than the honest, manly spirit which ought to mark the Government of the United States in its public to the United States in its publ of the United States in its public trials. Mr. Kendall, who headed the Union movement in New Orleans, was appointed postmaster over individuals of a different stamp in politics—secessionists of the school of Soule and Davis which gave dissatisfaction to the latter. Mr. Kendall, who belonged to Kentucky, is a bold, original, strong-minded man, such a man precisely as in the contest of politics ever makes enemies—all of whom are now strongly armed against him, seeking not his conviction, for that is impossible before any jury—but his utter destruction. Mr. Kendall was removed on a charge of embezzlement, and his office was immediately filled by his political enemies, the friends of Mr. Davis, the Secretary enemies, the friends of Mr. Davis, the Secretary of War. The character of the appointments made to this office indicates the object for which the mind of the President has been artfully influenced to obtain his assent to the proceedings against Mr. Kendall. If this persecuted man is not restored to his post with every mark of honorable confidence, we shall be disappointed in the character and courage of Franklin Pierce, mentinthe administration of justice The charge against Mr. Kendall is this, that after embezzeling $600 in notes from the mail, he, after using $650 of it without detection, enclosed eight of the notes, amounting to $40, to a Mr. Ayres, of Carrollton, Miss., under the disguise of the name of Marshal Hanson, but without any disguise of his own handwriting, requesting that this money should be retained subject to his order. This petty business—the work doubtless of an enemy who counterfeited his hand—is charged upon the companion of Slidel and Benjamin, the Senators of that State in Congress; upon a gentleman of character and attainments; a noblehearted and honest man; and there are found those in the Cabinet of the President who cannot see how the prosecution of such case must finally recoil upon them with proper fury. No elevation, no position, no services, can exonerate an officer of the Government from punnshment who dares to persecute the humblest citizen. The cause of Mr. Kendall ought to be made the cause of every man of apirit throughout the length and breadth of the land, until every instrument in this vile proceeding, from the humblest to the highest, is made to feel that justice, if she be slow in her steps, has yet a grasp of iron, in which they will ultimately be held.

In the discharge of the duties of postmaster, the utmost promptness has been exhibited in the accounts. There is a class of persons called traveling mail agents, who, according to the the utmost prompiness has been exhibited in the accounts. There is a class of persons called traveling mail agents, who, according to the testimony, 'carry keys to open mail bags," "who have access to them at all times," who even "open letters" and "employ decoy letters," some of whom are the real authors of this proceeding against Mr. Kendall, in which they have found ready participants in persons high in power, who have their selfish objects to gratify. Mr. Kendall complained to the Department that persons of this description should be allowed to retain "mail keys," and protested against sharing the responsibility with them. The active movers in this proceeding against him are chiefly these traveling spies, one of whom—who lived on the very route where robberies were perpetrated—was removed from the whom—who lived on the very route where rob-beries were perpetrated—was removed from the service of the Government through the influence which Mr. Kendall then had. The sole evi-dence against Mr. Kendall consists in a comparison of his handwriting with the body of the let-ters to which the feigned name of Marshal Han-ters to which the feigned name of Marshal Hanson was signed.

The necessity of disguise was exhibited by using a feigned name, but omitted by using what purports to be the ordinary handwriting of Mr. Kendall. This is precisely the course which an enemy determined to gratify his revenge would have taken, in order, by the ultimate production of the letter, to throw suspicion over the man whose handwriting had been imitated. A criminal using disguise, by writing unted. A criminal using disguise, by writing un-der an assumed name, would not emit it by writing the body of the letter in his ordinary hand, when that hand was well known to thousands. "Some of the letters were written," says Mr. Morse, "on the fly-leaf of post-office paper," another device to direct suspicion towards Mr. Kendall.

From the exactness with which handwriting may be imitated, and the dissimilarity which is often discovered in the same hand, courts, even often discovered in the same hand, courts, even in civil cases, look upon testimony founded on comparison with great distrust, but in criminal cases it is often wholly rejected. The witness in this case for the prosecution, on being shown prepared imitations of Mr. Kendall's writing, pronounced them without hesitation to be his, and yet their testimony that the body of the Hanson letters appeared to be Kendall's was the evidence on which an officer of the Government committed Mr. Kendall under the disgraceful committed Mr. Kendall under the disgraceful argument of the Attorney General of Louisiana
—a secessionist sent to New Orleans to take part in this inquiry-that the Court commit in every case UNLESS SUSPICION IS WHOLLY GROUNDLESS! A dozen witnesses were clear in the opinion that the body of the letters signed with the name of Hanson were attempted imiwith the name of Hanson were attempted imitations of Mr. Kendall's writing. The law, instead of being of the odious character contended for by Mr. Moise, is this, that no man shall be committed except upon probable cause, which means, said Judge Marshall, "a case made out by proof furnishing good reason to believe that the crime alleged has been committed by the person charged with having committed it."

A respectable citizen of New Orleans, under the rule laid down in behalf of the United States.

the rrle laid down in behalf of the United States, 948, O. C. Porter 688. that a person charged must be committed unless suspicion is wholly groundless, has been dragged from the society of his family aud friends and put into a prison on a charge made by the spies of the Government, heard before a com-missioner appointed by the government, and officer sent there especially by the government.

The Van Amrige Fire Ladder.—This new invention was tried at the corner of Sixth and Vine streets, yesterday afternoon, with com-plete success. The ladder is very simple in its construction, being placed on wheels. On the summit and various distances from its base are galleries in which the pipemen can stand se-curely. By means of this improvement, in con-nection with the steam fire engine, every floor of a building can be instantly deluged. One important feature of the machine is that it is selfsupporting and can be placed a distance from the building when there is intense heat or dan-ger from falling walls.—Cin. Com.

The General Land Office machinery costs a good round sum to the government, annually, the appropriations for its expenses for the year 1855 amounting to $1,611,522, of which $318,000 was for the salaries and commissions of registers and receivers, $158,000 for the salaries of the Commissioner and his clerks, $168,000 for surveys and office rent in California, $117,000 for surveying the public lands, $100,000 for expenses of receivers in depositing public money, $107,000 for surveys and office rent in Kansas and Nebraska, $95,000 for contingent expenses, $70,000 for clerks, &c., under the new bounty land act, and so on down the long list of items.

METEOROLOGY .- Lieutenant Maury, whose services to commerce in ascirtaining the winds and currents of the ocean have been so valuable, makes a proposal in the American Farmer that a system of observations be established on land with a view to agricultural matters, similar to that which he established on the sea with a view to navigation. He suggests that the Surgeon General of the army, who now collates, discusses, and publishes all the meteorological observations made at the military posts, should issue a circular to the farmers and agriculturists throughout the country, asking them to make certain specified meteorological observations with particular instruments at stated times of the day, and forward regularly accounts thereof to the office in Washington, in return for which all the publications issued from that office should be sent to the observers. On an average, ten observers for each State would be sufficient. What is wanted in such a system is uniformity. In case it should be thought irrelevant to the business of the Surgeon General's office, it might be made a branch of the Agricultural Bureau of the Patent Office, and in either ease the nucleus is already in existence. By means of a well digested system of observations, natural laws regulating climates might be ascertained, the approach of storms known, &c.

We find the following in a letter to the Chicago Tribune: "The emigration to Minnesota continues enormous, though stnce the warm weather has set in the stream is considerably lessened in volume. It is said that the Galena and Minnesota Packet Company, an organization that now controls the entire marine of the Upper Mississippi, will make in clear cash, over and above the damage to boats, the moderate sum of $200,000, before the close of the season."

Numerous applications have been made to us for extra numbers of the Journal containing the details of the riots in this city on Monday last. To meet this demand we will print extra copies on Monday next containing all the affidavits which have been handed to us for publication concerning the origin of these riots. Our weekly Journal of Tuesday, of which 10,-000 extra copies have already been ordered, will contain full particulars of the whole affair, and all the information that has been collected in reference to it.

The Appleton, Winnebago county, Crescent says that the wheat crop of Wisconsin this year will amount to 20,000,000 bushels. In the estimate which we published a short time since of the entire crop of the country, copied from the New York Herald, Wisconsin was only allowed 9,000,000.

The New York Herald has news from Turk's Island to a recent date. The United States Consul, Mr. John L. Nelson, who had joined the Kinney expedition, had left as his acting deputy Mr. John W. Lightbourn. The government had made some difficulty about recognizing him.

DESTRUCTION OF CHAMOUNI BY FIRE. - The following distressing intelligence has been re-ceived by Mr. Albert Smith from Geneva: On Friday morning, at 3 o'clock a fire broke out in the Hotel d'Angleterre, and, despite every ex-ertion, 22 houses had been consumed. The Hotels d'Angleterre, de Londres, and de la Couronne are burnt down, besides 19 houses belonging to the poorer inhabitants.

The Hotel d'Union has been saved by saturating it with water; which renders it for the present uninhabitable. The new Hotel Royal de l'Union has become the refuge of every one, as also the small Hotel du Nord. No lives have been lost, but there have been sad accidents. BOARD COMMON COUNCIL.

THURSDAY, Aug. 9, 1855. Present-all the members except Messrs.

Dunlap, Pope, Raphael, Plummer, and Haydon. The following message from the Mayor was read and referred to the Committee on Police, and the President was added to said committee MAYOR'S OFFICE, Aug. 9, 1855.

To the General Council: GENTLEMEN: Since your last meeting our city has been the scene of most disastrous riots—the laws have been set at defiance and blood has been shed.

On the afternoon of Monday, the 6th inst. our hitherto orderly city was for several hours in the hands of a mob. My efforts, aided by the police (the only force at my command), and by many of my f-llow-citizens, were wholly unavailing to check the violence of a large body of men infuriated at seeing their friends shot down in the streets. It was not until after many hours that the maddened crowd could be in-duced to desist from the work of destruction Much property and many lives were sacrificed. It is due to the reputation of our city that these acts of violence should be investigated and every offender against law and order brought to justice; and I most respectfully suggest that it be referred to some appropriate or special committee for investigation, that a true and impartial account be made public of the whole of this most calamitous affair.

I would also suggest that, in consequence of the destruction of property there may be and the destruction of property, there may be and doubtless are some persons destitute and penniless, requiring immediate relief. You will devise such means as your wisdom may dictate for their relief, and above all for the prevention of scenes so disreputable to us as a civilized Christian community.

Respectfully,
JOHN BARBEE, Mayor. Also, the following message from the Mayor was read:

MAYOR'S OFFICE, Aug. 9, 1855.

To the General Council: GENTLEMEN: I hand herewith the resigna

ition of Geo. Stealey, Esq., City Engineer.

I regret the step Mr. Stealey has thought proper to take in tendering to your honorable body his resignation. His retirement from the post he has so long and ably filled involves the the city of a faithful and efficient officer, who has done the city good service in the varied and responsible duties of the office. It affords me pleasure to thus bear testimony to his skill as an engineer and to his gentlemanly deportment.

I respectfully suggest the importance of fill ing the vacancy at an early day.

Respectfully,

JOHN BARBEE, Mayor.

To his Honor John Barbee, Mayor of the City of Louisville:

Sir: I hereby respectfully tender to you my resignation of the office of City Engineer, to take effect on Saturday next, the 11th of August, 1855, in accordance with my expressed intention of doing so to members of the General Council, my securities, and others, at dif-ferent times during the last two months.

Very respectfully, GEO. STEALEY, City Eng'r. CITY ENGINEER'S OFFICE, Aug. 8, 1855.

Dr. White, the Coroner, will reply through the Journal on Monday to the statement in the Democrat of this morning in reference to the inquest held upon the body of Mur-

CORRECTION .- In reference to the contradictory statements of Drs. Ronald and White, which appeared in this morning's Journal and Courier, as to the identity of the remains of a human body, we are authorised by Dr. White to state that it grew out of the fact that he mistook the Evening Courier for the morning issue, He only intended to deny the statement that the remains of a human being had been found up to Thursday night in any of the cellars of Quinn's row. Only one has been found there as already stated in the Journal.

CITY COURT.

SATURDAY, Aug. 11. John Murphy, Wm. Brown, and Pat. Moran, assault and battery on Geo. Burge, heard in part

Dr. Mandeville Thum, attending physician of Burge, made a statement in regard to his wounds. He had one wound on the head and several in the arm. The skull was not fractured, but his condition was still critical, and it would require probably seven days before the result could be positively determined. Pat. Moran was then discharged and the other two remanded for seven days

Fred. Myer, Andrew O'Hanlin, August
Grimm, Joseph Grimm, and Caspar Grimm, charged with shooting Wm. Adkins and Wm.
Richardson on Monday last.

Adkins testified that at 3 o'clock on Monday heard firing on Madison and Wenzel streets, where he resides. Drove his carriage there; saw Americans and Germans fighting; a man had his leg broken, and Adkins took him with several others in the hack to Dr. Piles's office. As he turned the corner of Shelby, saw two As he turned the corner of Shelby, saw two Dutchmen loading their guns, and going down street saw several loading and firing. Adkins and the boy with him were shot on Madison street, between Clay and Hancock; was shot in the hand; the boy was badly hurt; was going very rapidly; thinks Joseph Grimm is the man that shot him and his boy; the gun was singlebarreled—a gun was produced, and witness said it looked just like the one he was shot with; three or four others were standing by Joseph Grimm, but they had no weapons; a Dutchman behind a wagon on Hancock street also fired at Adkins; the number of shots fired altogether was about eleven. Mrs. Caroline Smith resides on Madison street, between Clay and Hancock; saw the fuson Monday on the corner of Clay, where the house was mobbed; heard two reports of firearms; it seemed to come from the north side, near where the Grimms reside; saw Jos. Grimm carrying in rocks before the firing commenced; another Grimm was also outside, but didn't see him do anything.

Dr. Metcalfe states that Adkins's child is wounded in the foot, but there is every probability that it will recover.

Merritt Cunning was standing a hundred yards above Myers's; saw Adkins's hack, and, sas it came by Myers's, heard firing and saw smoke come from Myers's corner; the firing was not from the house; heard another firing and saw smoke come from Grimm's; heard a third fire and saw smoke from O'Hanlin's yard; and also saw the man firing from behind the cart, and could recognize him if he saw him. Geo. Shelton was inside of the house, and

Geo. Gregory heard O'Hanlin say on Monday morning, at half-past 7 o'clock, to another man (Wm. Gray) that he, for one, was willing to tear down the Hancock street Methodist church, and he would lead the party; saw a man firing in Adkins's hack from the corner of Clay and Madison; one man had a double-barrelled shotgun, who fired first at the men in Adkins's hack as he was passing, and who fell over, and then fired at Adkins, who screamed; the man who did the firing then walked back into the house, reloaded, came out, and fired again; the crowd then got hold of him; stabbed and beat the man that had shot; his name is Vogt; heard some twenty-five shot.

Ed. Williams arrested the parties. O'Hanlin had a pistol in his pocket.

Several other witnesses were examined, but nothing additional of importance was elicited. For the defense-Miss McManaway resides next door to O'Hanlin; ran in his house, and told him the mob was coming, and his wife locked him up in the closet; does not think there was any firing from O'Hanlin's.

Mr. Owen was in Myers's bar-room when Adkins came by with his back; house was closed Myers was behind the counter when shots were fired outside; saw a man in the street with a pis-tol, but didn't know him; the Grimms were at Myers's in the morning.

Peter Keiner was standing at his gate, next door to Grimm's, when Adkins's hack came by; the Grimms had no firearms, nor was there any shot fired; it was about 4 or 5 o'clock in the evening; the Grimms were at home all day; were not at Myers's. Mrs. Grimm saw the hack pass by; there was no shooting from her house.

Mr. Kidd testified to the good character of Mr. OHanlin. O'Hanlın was held to bail in $500 for one year. Myers was discharged. Joseph Grimm was held to bail in $600 to answer a charge of malicious shooting. The other two Grimms were discharged. James Nugent, drunkenness and disorderly conduct. Bail in $300 for three months. Elizabeth Harris, same charge. Bail in $100

Herman Gruess, carrying a concealed deadly weapon. Bail in $100 for three months. City vs R. D. Powell, two ordinance warrants. Fined in one case $5, the other dismissed at defendant's cost.

for two months.

Several ordinance warrants were dismissed. Barney Seal, assault and battery on B. Skene. Skene is a very old and weakly man. He was going down Jefferson street, when Barney walked up to him and struck him. Skene fell. Barney was in liquor. Bail in $200 to answer a

To the Editors of the Louisville Bulletin:
GENTLEMEN: In the Courier of the 9th, I eee the following

Gentlement in the Courier of the 9th, I eee the following paragraph:

"The proper officers shenld lose no time in holding to a rigid accountability those parties who were parading the efrocts on Monday with the eannon and maskets, inciting the moh to riot and areon. The police know them, and if they are not properly junished, a terrible receponcibility will rest on cur public officers.

I assert that the ahove romarks, like many others, are basely false. If the editor of the Courier had taken a little pains to inquire of the Mayer of the eity why the ounnon and muskets were brought out, in place of charging me with bringing them out in order to excite and encourage the mob, and instead of publishing to the world what he knew to be basely falseys, as false as his thoughts would dirset his pen to write, he would have a conscience clearer than he now has. But not he would have a conscience clearer than he now has. But not he would rather publish something false, and try to excite auother mob.

He also cates that the police knew them. Certainly they do, and so does the Mayor of the city. I would farther state for the benefit of Mr. Il admans that overy man that chouldered a musket or sesisted at the cannon, under my command on that day, can elaim compensation for solders erroice. I will state for the hencit of Mr. II, that I am the officer whad obserge of the cannon sud muskets, and that I received my orders from the Colonel of the Lagion, and the Colonel received his from the Mayor, who is the proper efficer to Issue such orders.

In place of heading any moh, I was out to suppress it, and ordsrs from the Colonel of the Logion, and the colonel of evived his from the Mayor, who is the proper efficient to Issue such ordsrs.

In place of heading any moh. I was out to suppress it, and did everything in my power, with the handfull of mon under me, to do so. Whilst out, I saved the lives of three Irishmen, and, whilst placing them under the protection of my gnns, I was fired at by some unknown person, the proof of which can be given by thopersons saved. As far as I am concerned, I have seen enough dead men, and God knows I am estissed; but, as to those shot on Monday night, it was impossible for a few men to quell the mob; it would have taken from 1,500 to 7,000 armed men.

I hope Col. Monsarrat will publish the whole affair, and show to the eltiens of Louisville and the public at large that I did nothing more than obey orders, which it was my dney to do, as I hold a commission from the Governor of Kantucky, and am sworn to obey all erders issued by my superior efficers.

As to any of the great miedoings that I have been charged with, I do not wish the public to think that I wanted to slum the consequences of any act of mine; but from a short publication of Captain E. M. Stone, he seems to blink that the people suppose that he was at the head of the mob. I was In the place that he thinks the public believed he held, and I feel proud of it, for I was out at the risk of my own life to save the lives and preperty of my fellow-beings. I am ever ready to eccupy a similar position.

Captain Louisville, Aug. 9.

The statement copied into the Commercial of Wednesday from the New York Times, that "Leavenworth, the dueltist," had recovered so far as to be able to walk about, and that his hmb is shortened two inches, we learn from good authority is wholly incorrect. He has not yet left his bed, and will not probably for a week or two to come. His leg is only shortened half an inch, and it is perfectly straight, so that he will not be at all crippled; a shortening of helf an inch never producing a perceptible halt in the gait.—Buffulo Com.

In one duodeeime volume, neatly bound in cloth. Price $1.

THE author of this interesting American novol is among the most intellocitual of living writers. It required the genius of the anthor to have grasped, with such extraordinary force, the seens and ofreumstances through which her stery moves. No other writer could have thrown as strong an individual life into place and locality. Her passionate fearless haven, her with a sum let the market of the base created, with such as in the the market. world she has created, will such an incuse carnestness, which no one can enter without yielding to the irresistible fascination of ber powers. The book is a thrilling transcript of undoubted experience. The characters introduced into her work are flesh and blood reslities. Those graphic life revelations bave created a profeund literary sensation net equaled by any other production since the appearance of the "Searlet Letter" and "Jano Eyre" and are "more talked about than any other novel of our times.

THE BALTIC'S NEWS.

Among the Baltic's passengers-183 in all-are the Rev. Peter Parker, M. D., of the Chinese Mission, with his family; Dr. S. R. House, of the A. B. C. F. Mission to Siam; Col. Sam Golt, of Connecticut; and H. Greeley, of New York.

The Baltic, on her outward passage, when off Holyhead, at half-past 10 o'clock, Saturday night, 21st, during a thick fog, run down the Sarah Ann schooner, 100 tons, taking slates from Bangor to Bristol. All on board, including a little girl, the master's daughter, were picked up by the Baltic, and the schooner was supposed to have sunk, but was afterward found affect and taken into port as a derelict. With afloat and taken into port as a derelict. With the generosity that distinguishes Americans the world over, the passengers of the Baltic presented the girl with $200 and the crew with $300.

The new steamship Habana, to run between Cuba, Liverpool, and Spain, has made her trial trip in the Mersey, running the measured distance of 23 miles in 194 minutes, with 57 revo-utions of the wheel per minutes.

The clipper-ship Red Jacket, Captain Millward, arrived at Liverpool on the 25th ult., 84 days from Melbourne, with 138,000 ounces of gold, including two nuggets weighing respectively 48 and 47 bs.

The British crops, though backward, were looking well. Hay, however, was light, owing to the cold and dry Spring, and wheat will hardly be so heavy as last year. It is a good deal beaten down by recent rains. Potatoes are promising a magnificent yield.

THE WAR. Telegraphic Dispatches from the Seat of War.
The following are the daily dispatches:

July 10 .- Gen. Simpson incloses the returns of casualties to the 8th of July; regrets they are so heavy in killed and wounded; states the general health of the army is good; and announces that at 5 o'clock on the morning of the 10th a heavy fire was opened on the Redan by the allied

July 11 .- Gortchakoff telegraphs: The enemy has renewed a vigorous cannonade. Yesterday at 8 P. M. Admiral Nachimoff received a severe wound and has since died. Until further or-ders, Admiral Panfiloff is appointed to succeed the deceased as Commander of the Naval Gar-rison and the Port, and Military Governor of Sebastopol.

July 13.—The Times correspondent writes: Last night the Russians kept up a tremendous fire. I am sorry to say that the battery which the French constructed between the Mamelon and the Malakoff has been knocked to pieces by the powerful fire of the latter fort. A colo-nel and 30 officers and men were put hors du combat, and the siege works have received a decided check. In fact, as fast as the Allies advance to the actual defences of the place they must expect to meet more elaborate works and obstacles heaped on one another with all the care which many months of preparation admit. Even now the enemy are strengthening the Mal-akoff every day. It is not what it was on the 18th of June, and a fortnight hence it will not be what it is now. The battery at the White Works, however, still goes on, and its effect will be proved in a few days.

July 16th.—Gortschakoff announces having made two sorties on the 14th and 15th, before the bastion Kornileff, which were satisfactory. Nothing of importance had occurred in othe parts of the Crimea.

July 23d.—Gen. Pelissier telegraphs: The en-emy appeared to have taken alarm last night, and opened a very brisk fire on the right and left of our lines of attack. Our batteries replied successfully. I have good intelligence from Yenikale. Everything there is going on well under the direction of Col. Osmont, who has taken measures to establish order at Kertsch.

[Correspondence of the Commercial Advertiser.]

London, July 27, 1855. The chief subject of attention during the past week has been the prospect of the harvest, and as the weather has been cold and damp, and a most unusual fall of rain took place yesterday without the slighest intermission throughout the whole day, which has been followed since by scarcely any signs of a favorable change, some auxiety has been created, and the price of wheat has experienced a further rise. Over all parts of the country, the crops, it is feared, must have been beaten down, and although a fortnight of sunshine would cause a very general recovery. that contingency is of course a critical one. In Ireland, likewise, the rains have been heavy, and the atmosphere altogether has been of a character to recall the periods of former years when the potato blight made its st devastating progress.
present time, the liope liope that the present season may prove the first in which the plant has entirely escaped, since 1847, is still warranted. During the last few days some iso-lated rumers of particular patches being affected have been published in the papers, but all the general accounts concur in representing the soundness and luxuriance of the crop. What-ever may happen, considerable confidence can at least te entertained that a greater yield will be secured than at any time for eight years, as the signs of the disease have never previously been so long delayed.

The proceedings in Parliament have been chiefly limited to the continuance of attempts on the part of a small minority of the House of Commons to embarrass the Ministry on the war question. The opportunity afforded to them this week consisted in the proposal of the Government to join France and guaranteeing a loan of £5,000,000 to Turkey. The press and the people at large denounced the proceedings in a manner not to be mistaken, and the maleontents were afraid to follow it up.

The Royal visit to Paris will take place in about a fortnight, and seems likely to be received ed with brilliant demonstrations.

The money market continues to be well supplied, and the Australian arrivals will produce increased ease. The harvest is the only question that can throw any doubt upon the future course of financial affairs. Should it after all prove favorable, there will be nothing to prevent an augmentation of ease and confidence.

· The next steamer from this side will be the SPECTATOR.

Paris, July 26, 1855 Public attention has been directed from the Crimea this week to the opposite bank of the Euxline. The Russian army, under Gen. Mou-ravieff, having entered the Turkish territory at Alexandropol, laid the siege before Rais on the 23d of June, but was obliged to wait for its ar-tillery, which was delayed by the bad roads. In the mean time, Erzerum, 80 mlles west of Rais, sent all its garrison to the relief of Rais. At the last dates the Russians, 36,000 strong, had abandoned Rais and had marched into Erzerum, which they hoped to find defenceless. Great anxiety was felt at Constantinople, and the capture of Erzerum was daily expected.

Such a success would give the Russians the complete control of a large portion of Asia Mi-nor, and the diversion might weaken the attack nor, and the diversion upon Sebastopol.

The French Government has been mortified the vote in the British House of commons upon the Turkish loan. The bill was passed unanimously here, while in Londonthree votes more would have killed it.

The loan here is meeting with an enormous success, and the total of the offers will be formidable. It is probable that a third will be covered by applications for not over 50 francs of rente a year, each application for the latter sum requiring a capital of somewhat over 1000 sum requiring a capital of somewhat over 1,000 francs, payable at well spaced intervals. Three francs a year interest for 63 francs capital is close upon 5 per cent., and it is not astonishing that such terms should be seized with avidity. As it is the desire of the Government to give this time a large share of the loan and its advantages to capitalists and la haute finance gener ally, measures have been taken to keep down the amounts subscribed by the smaller lenders. down

The interest felt in this operation throughout France has withdrawn all attention from the various departmental elections. Some of the results of a day's vote are funny enough; such as 22 failures to elect out of 23 counsellors, or a total of 11 bulletins deposited by a population of 10,000. Another very palpable effect of these national loans is to diminish largely the receipts and usefulness of the savings banks, in which the Government has hitherto taken a great interest. The Bank of Paris has this last year closed many old accounts and has opened few new ones; its total is six millions less than the year before.

Cecchetti, the Tuscan Protestant, whose case has excited much attention in Europe and America, has been set free by the Grand Duke. His imprisonment is commuted to a year's exile, which he will spend in Piedmont, living upon the contributions made for him by the English Bible Societies. We are told that Leopold would have taken this step long ago, had it not been for the interference of the London papers, to whose advice he did not desire to appear to vield. Defilies, the would-be assassin of Cardinal Antonelli, has been executed at Rome. The city, the evening before, had the air of a besieged fortress. The streets, cafes, and all places of public resort were deserted, and squads of French soldiers did double patrol duty through the night. An imposing display of military was made at the execution. Almost the same day, the Rev. Father Beckx, the general of the Jesuits, was attacked by a father of the same order, whose poignard missed like Pianori's pistol and Defilies's fork. The affair is to be kept secret, and details are very diffi-

The following is the official report of the loss of the Sardinian army in the Crimea, by cholera: 2,300 men and 78 officers; this, too, out of but 15,000 men, none of whom have ever met the enemy. A letter written by a Sardinian officer to a Turin newspaper, and translated into a French country journal, has brought a warning down upon the latter, for "exaggerations of a nature to alarm the country." The French loss by cholera in the month of June was 3.000.

Mrs. Ridgway, of Philadelphia, for many years a resident of Paris, has gained a suit, the object of which was to prove her an heir to the large estate of the Duchess of Plaisance, lately deceased. The inventory of the property had been made out, and the division ordered between the persons who supposed themselves the only heirs. A new inventory was ordered by the court, admitting Mrs. Ridgway's claim.

Mr. Greeley has left Paris, and the action commenced against him has been abandoned Mr. G. pressed a settlement, but his persecu-tors preferred dropping it where it was, to in-curring the risk of a defeat

Rachel left yesterday for England, where gives four representations previous to embarkng on the 11th in the Pacific for the United States. At her farewell representation here, the house was not over three-quarters full. The prices had been raised from 7 to 18 francs for the stalls and boxes, and from 3 to 6 francs for the pit.

Great preparations are made for the reception

Sea of Azoff—Destruction of the Bridge of Boats.—A dispatch from Capt. Hewett, of the British ship Beagle, announces that he had sent his boats to examine the communication between the town of Genitchisk and Arabat Spit, and found it to be by means of a ferry and two large flats and hawsers. Both the hawsers were cu and the flats turned adrift by the ship's boats on the 3d of July.

A body of Russian troops came to the beach and opened a fire of musketry at about eighty yards, but without effect, while the ships and boats fired grape on the exposed troops, and in flicted much loss.

The Russians are fortifying the Spit of Arabat

Since the bombardment of Taganyog, measof the Don have been closed and rendered inaccessible. Batteries have been erected on the coast, and a flotilla of gun-beats established on the river. There is also a strong body of Ces sacks and other troops, under the orders of Gen. Bagovert, collected near Nicoldieff. Strong. tifications are being erected at Rostoff, and the channel of the Don is obstructed.

Asia—The Siege of Kars. — In the British House of Lords the Earl of Clarendon, the 23d ult., gave some information as to the position of affairs in Asia Minor. On June 23d sians made advances on Kars, got within fire of the batteries, and were repelled. Notwithstand-ing the sufferings of the Turkish army last winter, the garrison now showed no symptoms of demoralization. On the contrary, the citi-zens had requested to be supplied with arms to aid in the defense, and Col Williams had as-sured the British Government that there was no apprehension of Kars being taken by a comp de main. It would be the duty of the Turkish Government to take measures for the welief of the place. At the date above referred to, June 23, there was a very considerable Russian force between Kars and Erzeroum, which advanced and destroyed some Turkishgranaries and stores and destroyed some Turkishgranaries and stores of corn. After the Russians failed in their demonstration against the city they (the Russians) sent for heavy guns, but a succession of wet weather prevented their being brought up. A private dispatch at Marseilles announced that the Russians had suddenly abandoned the siege of Kars, but a letter from Trebizonde of July 9 states as follows: "The Russians are still encamped at about an hour's distance from Trev have only detached a few sound-They have only detached a few squadrons of Cossacks to the neighboring villages to collect corn. We are still in ignorance of their motive in deferring the attack on Kars, whether to await reinforcements, or heavier artillery, or to march toward Erzeroum. We shall soon learn. A Russian corps of 9,000 men is at Yeni-keni, which intercepts communication be-tween Kars and Trebizonde. Some of the can ravans from Erzeroum to Persia have been stopped by Cossacks." The Principalities-Preparations for a Campaign on the Danube.—A letter from Silistria, of the 11th, states that Ismael Pacha had announced to his troops the approaching opening of a campaign in Bessarabia. Turkish reinforcements continue to be sent to the fortified places on the lower Danube, and the force now quartered from Shumla to Babadagh is called 45,000 men. The Bussians do not appear to fear any attack in the Dobrudscha. Prepara-tions are making at Varna for the expected arand indignant at the vote in the British House of rival of a French and English force early in land.

The Baltic—Operations on the South Coast.

Dispatches from Admiral Deans Dundas of July 17 inclose reports from Capt. Yelverton of his cruise with the Majicienne and Ruby. On July 11 he (Capt. Y.) proceeded to Kounda Bay, on the South Coast, where he dislodged an encampment of Cossacks by throwing shell and rock ets, and afterward landed to inspect the place, but found nothing to destroy. Next morning he landed at the mouth of the river Portsoiki, and landing on its right bank, destroyed a Cossack barrack and stables, and drove the soldiers into the country. He next proceededed in the direction of Wyborg, and anchored the ships as close as possible to the Island of Stralsund.— Having opened the bay called Trangsund, a Rus sian war steamer, towing two gunboats, was discovered not far off. The Ruby immediately opened fire, and she retired out of range. Pro-ceeding to the entrance of the Sound, Wyborg came in sight; also another Russian steamer and three gunbeats at anchor under an island about a mile off.

The English ships proceeded toward them, but were brought up by a sunken barrier across the channel, and at the same moment a masked battery on the left bank, not more than 350 yards off, opened a fire of round shot, grape and musketry, and the Russian ships, advancing to the barrier, also commenced a smart fire whereupon the British retired toward Stalsund the enemy's riflemen following them along the banks, but being driven from that position as fast as they took them by the ship's fire. An explosion took place on board one of the Arrogant's cutters, which swamped it and killed the midshipman in command. The cutter drifted toward the battery, and would have fallen into the enemy's hands, but was rescued by Lieuts. Haggard and Dowell with a volunteer crew who towed her out.

A boat belonging to the British ship Ajax cap tured a launch containing the Russian mails All the letters addressed to official persons, sucl as the Governor of Finland, &c., are written in White Sea in a State of Defense.—Commercials letter of July 8 mention that the allied squadron in the White sea consisted of six ships, and they had captured two or three vessels la and they had captured two or three vessels haden with grain. There remained at Archangel and the other ports only enough grain for current supply, the main stock of breadstuffs having been moved into the interior previous to the opening of navigation. Several battalions of militia were in camp near Archangel, also regular troops to the number of 12,000, namely, two regiments of light heree and four pulks of two regiments of light horse and four pulks of Don Cossacks. The harbor was barricaded and fortified, and no apprehensions were entertained of an attack None of the inhabitants had left Revolt of Bashi-Bazooks.—The Bashi-Bazooks have been again behaving badly. A party of them (in English bay, under Gen. Beatson), mutinied in the town of Dardanelles pillaged the place, and committed murder, vio ation, and all sorts of excesses. Two French frigates fired on the scoundrels, on which they left the town and dispersed themselves over the country. Troops have gone in pursuit.

The Attitude of Austria.—There is reason to believe that at the present moment the attitude of Austria occasions some anxiety, if not positive disputationals to the Western Cabinete. tive disquietuade to the Western Cabinets. Ever since the rupture of the Vienna Conference the numerous Russian agents at Vienna have labored with redoubled energy to detach Austria completely from England and France. During the past fortight much progress has been made, but particularly during the past six or eight days the results are more and more observable. At St. Petersburg the most friendly social relations are again extended to the Austrian Ambassador and his countrymen, who were previously treated with more than hauteur. There is no truth in the statement recently put forth that France and England had sent a cular to the German Courts, announcing that the Western Powers no longer consider themselves bound by the treaty of December on the four points of guarantee, in consequence of the rup-ture of the conferences of Vienna. It is true that what passed at those conferences is regarded as non avenu, as having never occurred, by reason of their rupture; but the guarantees good, and are still regarded as the bases of future negotiations whenever the time may come to renew them. They are still maintained by the allied governments, but as the minimum of their demands. How much more they may de mand must depend on the eventualities of the

THE LATEST.—July 25.—Pelissier telegraphs: After a brisk cannonade the Russians made a sortie about midnight on the left of the little Redan. As we are now close to them it did no take the enemy one minute to reach our gabio-nades. The Russians were promptly received and were repulsed, leaving some wounded and eight dead; the darkness enabled them to carry off the others. Gen. Bisson was on duty in the
